

Relationship number: RLT 243616

Period of Exchange: From November to May (5 months)

Brief introduction (max. 1000 characters):

The NE decided to take part in the project following the positive experience of a colleague who had previously completed a match at the same clinic and who later joined the staff.

The mutual interest was to train the NE by the HE in pet medicine and to show a working reality in a different country from that of origin of the NE and, on the other hand, to introduce a specialist branch such as that of non-conventional animals by the NE to offer a new service to the HE and its clientele

Activities undertaken (max. 1000 characters):

During the match, there was a chance to learn about various aspects of veterinary medicine between HE and NE, as well as with other members of the clinic, including those related to internal medicine, soft and hard tissue surgery, cardiology, ultrasound, Radiology, Hospital department

Benefits achieved (max. 1000 characters):

At the end of the match period, given the clearly positive results and objectives achieved by both sides, NE and HE have decided to continue the relationship of collaboration where they will tackle together increasingly complex cases, supported by internal and external training courses, to always offer the best possible service
